All-New Experience Brings Improv Comedy to Your Home

Improv Legends and “Whose Line Is It Anyway?” Veterans Colin Mochrie and Brad Sherwood Unleash a Wild, Comedic Ride Where the Audience is in the Driver’s Seat, LIVE via Zoom!

Worcester, Mass. (October 14, 2020) With theatres across the country temporarily closed due to the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, many entertainment seekers are left devoid of the live entertainment experiences they crave and so badly need. In an innovative move, The Hanover Theatre and Conservatory for the Performing Arts presents an all-new, compelling live entertainment experience that audiences can enjoy from the comfort of their own homes with the convenience and ease of Zoom.

Improv legends and “Whose Line Is It Anyway?” veterans Colin Mochrie & Brad Sherwood deliver their indelible humor in an all-new LIVE improv show entitled, Stream of Consciousness.

This truly interactive hour is fueled by audience suggestions, leaving Colin and Brad to rely only on their wits and intuition. Hilarious and bubbling with irreverent humor, the duo captivates with their whip smart senses and off-the-cuff comedic brilliance you won’t find anywhere else!

Streaming directly to at-home audiences, The Hanover Theatre presents Stream of Consciousness for a limited engagement, Sunday, October 18, Friday, October 30 and Saturday, October 24. All performances are at 8 pm.

Passes to access this live streaming event are $35 (plus applicable service fees) and are available exclusively through Passport Interactive. A $75 ticket includes a pre-show photo-op and a digital download of the "Out of the Box" special. For more information, visit TheHanoverTheatre.org. Capacity is limited so get your tickets today before they're gone!
