Worcester, Mass. (April 7, 2025) Clark University's Stella Chinchilla will play the principal role of Hero in The Hanover Theatre Repertory's (THT Rep's) production of Shakespeare's famous battle of the sexes, Much Ado About Nothing, April 10-27, 2025.

Tickets are on sale now!

Chinchilla is thrilled to be making their debut at The Hanover Theatre. A sophomore at Clark University studying interactive media (audio), music technology, and technical theatre, she has always had a passion for the arts and enjoys all aspects of theatre! Most recently they have been working as a sound designer and sound board operator in Clark University productions.

Director Brendon Fox, recently announced as the new artistic director of Peterborough Players, returns to the Jean McDonough Arts Center following successful productions of The Winter's Tale, Judith, and Twelfth Night.

A delightful romp, Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing follows the tangled affairs of Benedick and Beatrice, two fiercely independent souls engaged in a battle of wits, and the sweet courtship of Claudio and Hero, whose young love is threatened by jealousy and deception. This sharp-tongued comedy proves that, sometimes, the biggest fuss is made over absolutely nothing at all.
